New Industry For Blairmore

Town work crews in Blairmore are this week cleaning up inside the building formerly occupied by The Blairmore Enterprise to make way for a pottery industry that is coming to Blairmore.

The men are dismantling and removing the heavy printing equipment which is being stored in various locations in Blairmore.

A re-wiring job will be done on the building for the burners to be used in baking the clay.

The new business is being started by Ralph Van Den Heuvel, a Dutch immigrant, and Fritz Brasel, a German immigrant. Both men have had extensive experience in the pottery business and plan to produce clay pots for florists as well as tourist items and articles for use in homes. Machinery for the project has already been ordered and it is expected the business will start immediately.

One thing can be said for people who live in the past. They can do it cheaper.

USEFUL COURSE

Sudbury, Ont. — "To sew a fine seam" is the aim of a group of home-owners, stenographers, teachers, nurses, dietitians, business and professional women who are taking a six-month night course at the Sudbury mining and technical school.

The straight and narrow path would be much wider if more people travelled it.

Coleman Juniors Win South Alberta Baseball Title

Coleman's baseball juniors won the Southern Alberta Junior Baseball championship at Medicine Hat on Sunday, August 24th, as they split their double-header at the "Hat".

The Gas City topped Coleman 11-7 in the first game with the Pass club coming back strong under lights to take the second game by a narrow 8-7 margin.

The second game victory for Coleman coupled with their 7-1 victory at Coleman the previous Sunday gave them the best of three series of two games to one, and the right to advance against the northern champions, the Edmonton Juniors, for the provincial crown.

This will be a home and home series with the first game played in Edmonton August 31, and the second at Coleman on Sunday, September 7.

Get out and support these boys in their game on Sunday.

Coleman Drops First Two In Alberta Junior Playoffs

Coleman Junior baseball team, slugging away for the Alberta Junior Baseball Championship — were downed in the first two games of the series held in Edmonton over the Labor Day week-end.

Scores in the two games were 5-1 and 8-0 in the five game series. The next two games are scheduled to be held in Coleman on Sunday, September 7th, and should a fifth game be necessary the field has not yet been decided on.

In the first game, which was an abbreviated six inning contest, Tom "Sparkie" Buhak, of Coleman, pitching, was tagged for five runs on five hits to lose his first game of the season. Edmonton opened the scoring on the bottom of the first inning when the first man up, Ed Howorko drew a walk and scored on a triple by second baseman Herb Sewers. The northern team added another run in the second without the benefit of a hit as two Coleman misuses sandwiched a basebal and completed the scoring in the fifth. With three runs as lead off the batter in the inning went to first after being struck by a pitch, advanced on a single by the Edmonton first baseman Fred McDonald, and both scored on a triple by their catcher Wally Waddie, who himself later crossed the plate on an infield out.

Coleman's lone run was scored in the third inning as a single by Ray Cornez, who brought home Ray Reghanas, who had reached first base on an error and had stolen second. The other players who picked up a hit besides Cornez were Barry Fraser, Ken Tappay, Jim Lant and Fred Churlia, all with singles to account for Coleman's five hits.

In the second game a single by Jack Stewart in the 8th inning was the only hit Coleman picked up off the fast pitching of Edmonton's Milt Weiss as he led his team to an 8-0 decision. Ken Tappay, on the mound for Coleman, saw the Edmonton boys slug away 10 hits.

Elks Enjoy Picnic at McBaines Lake

Thirty cars carrying approximately 150 Coleman Elks, their wives and children, caravanned to McBaines Lake in British Columbia on Sunday to enjoy the best summer annual picnic ever sponsored by the Elks lodge.

Leaving here early in the morning the caravan arrived home in the late evening, tired, well fed and with memories of an excellent outing.

During the day events, games, and races, including horse shoes and swimming were enjoyed by all. One of the highlights of the day came in the form of a contribution to the Elks by the Elks committee, organized a game which saw the participants, who were blindfolded, obligated to drive a wheelbarrow through a staked out course. One of the contestants, Mush Yeliga, came too close to the lake's edge and unable to resist the temptation, John Holyk pushed Mush into the lake's warm water. Later in the day, after a lunch period, the game was resumed and with several members joining in the conspiracy, Mr. Holyk was urged to take part in the wheelbarrow game and when he consented was blindfolded and guided off of the dock, wheelbarrow and all, — into the lake.

During the enjoyable affair a mass picnic was enjoyed by all families bringing picnic baskets and added to by the Elks supplying 240 cans of free corn, 15 cases of pop, 250 hot dogs, 20 pounds of peanuts, gallons of ice cream and coffee. Expenses of those furnishing cars was also paid by the Elks lodge.

Tractor use on the farm

OTTAWA, Ont. — Tractors play the leading role in farming operations on the Western Canada rural stage.

This is emphasized by a five-year survey of the Illustration Stations Division of the Canada Department of Agriculture.

It showed that on 75 illustration station farms on the prairies tractors logged an average of 472 hours each annually. There were about 176 tractors per farm.

The station farms averaged 956 acres each, and the tractor use per cultivated acre was reckoned to be one hour and 16 minutes.

By comparison, tractors spent a little more than five hours per cultivated acre on 41 illustration station farms in Ontario and Quebec. The farms averaged 126 acres each.

During the five years the survey was under way, there was a noticeable upward trend in the average number of cultivated acres per farm on the prairie stations. A four per cent increase, or 26 acres per farm, was noted.

Illustration stations are privately owned farms whose owner-operators co-operate with Experimental Farms Service in the testing of research findings under practical farming conditions.

Lions Have Successful "Garage Day"

Coleman Lions report having enjoyed a very successful day when through the courtesy of Harold Nelson, proprietor of the Kananaskis Service Station, the Lions, working in crews, took over the operation of the garage for the day, Sunday, August 24.

Pass residents, knowing that the Lions were to take over the garage for the day in an endeavor to raise funds for various projects, let their gas tanks on cars run low during the week, and put off oil changes and grease jobs until the Lions Club took over.

The entire day's work which began at 7 a.m. and lasted until 11 p.m., saw the Lions net themselves approximately $75.00 after having sold over 1,000 gallons of gas, doing numerous grease jobs and oil changes and washing six cars.

The occasion marked the third year the Lions were given the opportunity to raise funds through the courtesy of the Kananaskis station.

Proceeds from the day were earmarked for the Lions Club Kiddies Parks program which the club undertook during the past few years.

THRESHOLD OF 100 YEARS

When the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association meets this week in Toronto for its 39th annual convention, delegates will have in mind that association of weekly editors and publishers as a group is almost 100 years old. Next September, 1959 will see the 100th birthday of the founding of the Canadian Press Association, which included weeklies as well as daily newspapers.

There are in Canada today, more than a dozen weekly newspapers that were charter members of the Canadian Press Association when it was formed in 1859. A number of years ago the dailies and weeklies separated to form their own associations, and thus the C.W.N.A. and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association were born. Both groups of course, still retain membership in the century-old Canadian Press Association.

To put it another way, Canadian weeklies have stood together as a fraternity since long before Confederation, enlarging their membership as the various provinces came into being. Today the C.W.N.A. has 517 members from coast to coast, representing every province and virtually every community.

Delegates to this week's convention will come from far away Newfoundland and from Vancouver Island. They will meet to discuss common problems in publishing Canada's well read weeklies. As always, too, many wives and children will be present for they are part of the C.W.N.A. family. Indeed many of them, as our readers know, are active workers on the family newspaper.

It can be truly said that there are men and women on the staffs of daily newspapers, in radio and TV work and in the advertising world and for that matter, in all walks of life, who can take more than a passing interest in the C.W.N.A. annual get-together, for many of them got their start on the home-town weekly. Because of this they are strong boosters, conscious of the importance of the weekly in many small communities.

To these people and, we trust, to our subscribers, many of the problems to be discussed this week will have real meaning, problems such as the rising costs of materials and equipment and the shortage of experienced workers and our constant fight to keep advertising and subscription rates from rising. To this can be added, of course, the rapid growth in Canada of communities which often means that weeklies must expand their plants and buy new equipment.

These are some of the problems that will confront delegates this week, and in attempting to find solutions delegates will be giving real service to the industry, not only to the C.W.N.A. members, but non-members alike. From convention deliberations will come much that will benefit the subscriber and the public.

Like all conventions the C.W.N.A. get-together will have its social side when delegates will greet old friends and make new ones. But over and through these pleasures will run the serious thread of discussion in the interests of members and the public.

And lest we be thought ungrateful, may we say as we have before, that the faithful subscriber is still the keystone of a newspaper's being.

In The Name Of Canada

To many thousands of needy children in the dark corners of the world, Canada is a fairy godmother whose magic wand has produced everything from milk and warm clothing to the love and care of devoted foster parents.

In 13 years, nearly seven million pounds of vital relief supplies have been channeled through the Unkarian Service committee into the empty hands of starving children and desperate adults. And every ounce of it has been distribed in the name of Canada.

To continue this heart-warming work, the USC will launch its 14th appeal for funds on September 8. The objective is $200,000 — the highest ever set, to be raised by Christmas Day.

The money will be used to finance some 50 projects in eleven countries in Asia and Europe with the largest amount still earmarked for Korea, to help the most helpless of all war victims, the orphans. The care of these many children must extend beyond their basic needs for shelter, food and clothing, to include rehabilitation through education and vocational training.

In India, USC work is mostly educational and medical, assisting isolated villagers, slum dwellers and beggar children.

In Greece, mountain farmers, made homeless by the war, will be enabled to rebuild homes and begin a modest livestock and olive tree program through USC loans. The two most important pilot projects are community development schemes in Northern and Central Greece.

In the Middle East the USC program includes commercial training for young Arab refugees, and midwifery training to replace the primitive and often dangerous practices that claim the lives of thousands of mothers and babies each year.

One of the most urgent work programs is the despatch of 25,000 layettes promised to the United Nations for Arab refugee babies this year. Layettes consist of 4 diapers, 2 baby vests, 2 nightgowns and 2 jackets, outgrown but not outworn, or made up from material around the house; 1 towel, 1 cake of soap and 4 safety pins.

The "Pullover Parade", organized to send 25,000 long sleeved, high-necked pullovers, to shivering Korean orphans, also needs enthusiastic volunteers. Grey wool can be obtained by writing to the Unkarian Service committee, 78 Sparks Street, Ottawa 4.

Every garment and every dollar's worth of aid is distributed in the area of greatest need regardless of creed or nationality.

Each year Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, USC executive director, undertakes a world tour to ensure efficient administration of all USC projects and to keep in close touch with human needs at grass roots level.

"This year I saw progress everywhere, even in suffering Korea," she reports. "But the need is still desperate. It is absolutely essential that this vital Canadian relief and rehabilitation program continue."

In an uncertain world where goodwill, understanding and friendship between nations is the very basis for world peace, Canadians are fortunate to have this unique non-denominational organization as their reliable ambassador to serve in areas of greatest need. The forthcoming appeal of the USC is warmly endorsed by the Prime Minister of Canada.

To build a happier tomorrow for all the world's children, the USC needs and deserves the support of thinking citizens everywhere.

Senior Citizens Homes To Be Built

Strategically located in predetermined zones serving the entire province, 50 new homes for senior citizens will be constructed by the Alberta Government in 1959. Each will have accommodation for 50 persons.

In addition, two special units have been proposed for each of Calgary and Edmonton, to provide housing for eight hundred persons in each city.

Discussion with the committees concerned will be initiated shortly.

The Alberta government will bear total cost of construction and furnishing the homes. They will be constructed on acceptable land provided by the municipalities in the areas where the homes are located. When completed they will be turned over to the people of the areas they serve.

Estimated cost of this modern accommodation for 4100 senior citizens of Alberta is approximately $16,000,000.

To The Money Market

(With Patricia)

Vacation's almost over, the youngsters are getting ready to go back to school and here and now is the most opportune time for the woman holding Victory Bonds to improve her investment, increase her yearly income and get a little cash on the side.

If you do not have any Victory Bonds this does not mean that you cannot become the owner of one of the new Conversion Loan issues.

Simply ask your banker or investment dealer to buy some Victories for you and then exchange them for the new bonds.

Your new Conversion Bonds carry a higher interest rate, depending on the issue you buy. But whatever you take, your new bonds are going to give you more cash each year than you have been getting up to now. The most profitable bond is the 25 year issue which pays four and half per cent per annum. That's excellent interest for non-callable bonds in today's market.

Just in case you're wondering what the financial world means when it talks about "non-callable" bonds, it means simply that if you wish to hold the bonds until they mature you can do so. It doesn't mean that you have to hold them, however. Should you be pinched for cash some time because Junior has to have his tonsils removed or you have a big wedding coming up in the family, you can always sell your bonds on the market. But nobody can make you sell them until their due date.

Just heard of a gal who was cleaning out her desk in search of an insurance policy and, to her surprise, she found ten one hundred dollar bonds complete with coupons. Naturally, she collected the back interest and her cash adjustment and converted the lot. A real windfall for her and at a good time, too, because she had just spent her savings on her vacation.

Have you a bond or two hidden away in a biscuit box? One Mount-real woman had. Check and make sure, and should you find your forgotten nest egg, exchange it now for new Conversion Loan bonds.

Two women were discussing a mutual acquaintance. "She has a magnetic personality," said the kindly one.

"She ought to have," replied the other, "every stitch she has on is charged."

Your unemployment column

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the U. I. C. Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you:

Q—After a full year of steady employment and contributions, is a person entitled to benefit if she is ill during her unemployment period or does she lose her benefit right?

A—Payment of benefit during illness is only made if the claimant was in receipt of or was entitled to receive benefit when the illness occurred. If a job is given up or is lost because of illness, or if illness occurs before benefit is payable, no benefit is paid until the claimant recovers.

Q—The union I belong to is considering negotiating with our company for a guaranteed annual wage—There has been some objection to our going after this form of security on the grounds that we would no longer be eligible for unemployment insurance when laid off. Is this correct?

A—Whether the payments under a guaranteed wage plan will have any effect on the payment of unemployment insurance benefit can only be determined after the conditions governing the payment of guaranteed wages are known.

Q—Does an employee lose his right to benefit if, after contributing for some time, he becomes not insurable because he is over the ceiling?

A—No. His rights are protected in any case for a further period of two years. It is also open to him, provided he has made at least 30 weekly contributions in the two years immediately preceding, to elect to continue as an insured person. (In such case his employer can require him to pay both the employer's and the employee's portion of the contributions).

Q—I am a laborer. During the summer I work on the farm, in winter I work in the bush. I am paying unemployment insurance contributions, but this work is seasonal in nature and I am not able to work long enough to be able to draw benefits. Have I the right to ask the farmer, in summer, to pay unemployment insurance contributions when I am willing to pay my share?

A—No. Work on the farm is not insurable and contributions cannot be paid for work done there. If you become unemployed in the period December to mid-May any year, you might be entitled to seasonal benefit for which the number of contributions required is considerably lower than for regular benefit. Enquire at your local office should you become unemployed in the period mentioned.

New insurance plan in operation

An accident insurance plan for the protection of its members has been placed in operation by the Alberta Wheat Pool, according to an announcement this week by G. L. Harrold, chairman of the Pool's Board of Directors.

Under the plan, which became effective August 1st, eligible members and their dependents are automatically insured against accidents occurring either on or off the farm on a year-round basis. No application forms are necessary but in the event of an accident a claim must be filed. The entire cost is being borne by the Wheat Pool. Protection may be extended to non-family farm workers upon application and the payment of a small annual premium.

The decision to implement this group insurance program was made at the Pool's last annual meeting in November, and was the result of the need for low cost accident insurance for farm people, who are engaged in one of the most hazardous of all occupations. Delegates recognized the fact that only a small percentage of farmers had adequate insurance protection.

In the event of death, benefits under the plan range from $200 for small children to $1,000 for adults. For the loss of limbs or eyesight the benefits run up to $1,000. In addition the plan will pay the cost of doctor bills, ambulance and nursing care incurred in any accident up to a total of $500 per accident, but excluding the first $50 of such expense.

To be eligible for the protection a member must have made specified minimum deliveries of grain or forage seed to the Wheat Pool in the past 12 months period.

This Insurance plan has been worked out and is being administered by Co-op Fire and Casualty Company.

Alberta Wheat Pool agents have full information on this accident insurance protection for farm families.

Caution Urged For Travel In Forests

MONTREAL, Que. — "Modern inventions for the use of travellers in the forest could sharply reduce conflagrations charged to acts of carelessness," J. L. Van Camp, general manager of the Canadian Forestry Association said today.

"To replace the bother and inefficiency of camp fires for cooking food in the woods," Mr. Van Camp pointed out, "a propane gas-burner is available for less than ten dollars. To replace building a fire to heat water, vacuum bottles can carry hot drinks for long periods. No longer is it necessary to imitate the pioneer by lighting an open fire which, unless painstakingly extinguished, can spread devastation through the timberlands."

Few woods travellers are aware Mr. Van Camp said "that the starting of a fire in the forest carries severe penalties. Quebec's recently revised laws impose fines of several hundred dollars or jail sentences, while the Ontario Act makes the guilty party responsible for any costs of fire fighting resulting from his negligence. Other provinces provide for punishments for reckless conduct with fire of a similarly drastic nature.

"Knowing the recreational, water holding and economic value of our forests," Mr. Van Camp warned, "leaves no excuse for anyone who tosses away lighted matches or tobacco or leaves his camp fire smouldering. Such irresponsible acts annually cause hundreds of fiery disasters and strip the countryside of its wooded wealth for many decades ahead."

Bride Honored At Shower

Summer flowers decorated the Elks hall, making a very pleasing setting when Mrs. Stan Perrot (nee Fae Tiberghien) was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower.

Evening's entertainment consisted of whist and bingo. Whist honours went to 1st, Mrs. S. Yagos; 2nd, Mrs. J. Nash. Consolation to Mrs. B. Cherny.

The marked cup prize went to Mrs. J. Derlyshire.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, and the guest of honor was then presented with many beautiful and useful gifts.

The major gifts were a trailer washing machine, electric appliances, iron, frying pan and mixer. Her mother's gift was a rug and bathroom set; her grandmother's gift, a chenille bedspread also many other useful gifts.

Mrs. Perrot very ably thanked all for same also the hostesses.
